Three students from Alfa College will be hosted by CSCS for the production of a videogame.

 cscs.it/

22/1/2016

Within skillman activities, cscs is entitled to internally develop a videogame for marketing and learning purposes with the aim to attract young visitors to its platform. For this reason, upon an agreement of collaboration with Alfa College Groningen (<http://www.alfa-college.nl/paginas/default.aspx>), three students from Holland has been involved in this process organizing a mobility experience to Italy: Zardjo Usmany, Niels van der Burgh and Amin Benali.

The students will arrive in Italy next friday, 5th of February and will be leaded in their experience by a CSCS mobility tutor. They will work autonomous in the process but the skillman staff will provides guidance and support to them about the following aspects:

- contents definition,
- storyboard concept and design,
- time management,
- project management (tasks definitions, monitoring and checking with recurrent audits),
- contribution to debugging.

The operational mandate is commensurate to the students capacities. The target is to produce an ended working output and not a sophisticated output. The output will be included in the skillman results as the student masterpiece and the students will be able to use it as their portfolio evidence.

“The Emergence of Eurocitizens” by Franck Biancheri has been reprinted by the AAFB in partnership with Editions Anticipolis.

 cscs.it/

The AAFB in partnership with Editions Anticipolis is delighted to announce a reprint of the “Little Blue Book” (better known as “The Emergence of Eurocitizens”) written by Franck Biancheri.

This book offers an original perspective on the recent history of European integration through the creation and development of the first European student network, AEGEE-EUROPE in 1985. The pages of the book also illuminate the meandering European Community decision-making process by telling the true story of the complex adoption of ERASMUS, the first large scale European programme addressing young people, in which AEGEE-Europe played a decisive role. The book is also an original testimony on the real impact European citizens can have on the European construction process... when they know how to organise themselves as Eurocitizens! The book is available (in paper and numeric formats) in french, english, romanian languages on Anticipolis website & Amazone.

The AAFB (Association des Amis de Franck Biancheri) was created in 2012 after Franck Biancheri passed away. Founder of AEGEE-Europe, considered as one of the “ERASMUS Fathers”, he made it possible for ERASMUS to exist: His success in influencing the EU Council's negotiations on the ERASMUS programme, ensuring its approval, has radically transformed more than 3 million students' lives on our continent and remains a living legend of how a student challenged a whole Union and thrived. Today, the AAFB and its members lend all their support to develop political actions based on Franck Biancheri's commitments such as the continuation of his work on Euroland democratisation, European Union... and keep on developing the organizations he created (LEAP, FEFAP, IRPA, GEAB, NewropeansMagazine).

To support the launch of this book, the AAFB recently created a facebook page entitled: “Citizen History of the ERASMUS programme” (www.facebook.com/CitizenHistoryoftheERASMUSprogramme). This page tells in pictures and through testimonies, photos, videos, unpublished anecdotes... the true story of ERASMUS and the role european students played in the adoption process.

The 5 interns, thanks to a grant Erasmus+ assigned by the Chamber of Commerce, can make their internship in various restaurants located in Pistoia.

Their engagement will last 3 months: they arrived at the end of March and will remain till the end of June.

They attended a hotel management school and received a specialization to become chefs. The main goal of this experience is to put into practice what they learned at school as well as to learn some Italian recipes to be revived in Spain.

The Italian Chamber of Commerce for Spain has summoned the aspiring chefs at CSCS for the delivery of some gadgets to wish them a good internship.

CSCS supervised 5 internships offered by the “Ciudad de los Muchachos” to students of FP Intermediate.

“Ciudad de los Muchachos” is a school located in the popular neighborhood of Vallecas that uses a comprehensive educational approach based on Don Bosco’s preventive system. In the last years the institute has implemented two European projects that have provided to its students the opportunity to make different Mobility FCT internships in Italy and Ireland.

During their 92 days of Internship the students of “Ciudad de los Muchachos” implemented their professional, social and personal language skills through the direct experience in vehicles workshops, services companies and the Provincial Public Administration of Pistoia.

CSCS has provided everything needed for the student’s stay making it as comfortable as possible. The apartment that hosted the students and its facilities were especially comfortable to carry out linguistic activities and cultural courses that the young interns had to attend daily during their stay.

CSCS participated in the Aracne Euroevent. Innovation in vocational training, empowerment and social entrepreneurship.

CSCS, Fam and Lias and Blickpunkt Identität, united in a strategic partnership to carry out the Aracne project, organized a European Conference on Innovation in professional Training, Empowerment and Social Entrepreneurship under the slogan #repensandolainsercion.

The collaboration in Aracne was funded by the ERASMUS + program and aims to design an innovative methodology in the field of employment of groups with social disadvantage.

The methodological proposal of ARACNE has been developed from the study of innovative projects in the field of social and labor integration, at an European level, identifying those processes that generate permanent changes in target people and in the the working environment in which they operate.

The conference, held the last 23 June 2016, saw the participation of Stefano Tirati with a Presentation on 'Socio-Labour Insertion in Europa. Success, limitations and challenges'.

CSCS has been included also in the two sessions dedicated to the 'Sample of Experiences' for the presentation of the success Keys within the labour insertion processes carried out in Italmobility and Skillman.

Italymobility has been presented in the Aracne Euroevent.

 cscs.it/

14/7/2016

The project Italymobility has been presented in the Aracne Euroevent, Innovation in Vocational Training, Empowerment and Social Entrepreneurship, held the last 23 June 2016 in Madrid.

Italymobility is one of the learning mobility initiatives of CSCS aimed at giving a concrete response to the need for highly skilled workers by means of professionalisation, career development and other activities addressed to increase personal and social skills in young people.

Greta Bilanzola, in its speech, highlighted that IMY's main goal is to provide young people the opportunity to spend some time abroad in order to acquire the additional qualifications needed to the job market.

Beside the development of specific skills, Italymobility aims at increasing transversal skills such as curiosity, sense of initiative, independence, problem solving, communication skills, confidence, adaptability and the capacity to compare and learn different labor methods.

Moreover IMY, providing intercultural experiences, offers young people the opportunity to broad their horizons and develop a sense of European identity and citizenship which is particularly important to encourage a political and social debate.

The beneficial aspects of the project can be summarized also by using six human body parts:

- BRAIN, increasing knowledge. Italymobility is a perfect way to go beyond our national borders.
- MOUTH, increasing communication skills, public knowledge and knowledge of a new language;
- HEART, promoting friendship, peace and tolerance.
- STOMACH, thanks to the influence of local culture, the good food of Italy and good emotion. Italymobility brings cultural awareness and expression;
- HANDS, favoring practice;
- FEET, openind minds on exploration and interculturality.

The metaphor of the human body has been very effective to communicate the core values of Italymobility to the audience of the event.

CSCS participated in the high-level event to launch the New Skills Agenda for Europe.

 cscs.it/

28/7/2016

Centro Studi participated in the event organised by the European Commission to launch the New Skills Agenda for Europe and boost human capital, employability and competitiveness.

The actions of the New Skills Agenda focus on improving the quality and relevance of skills formation, making skills and qualifications more visible and comparable, as well as improving skills intelligence and information for better career choices.

The commitment of Europe in this issue unfortunately faces a number of challenges as e.g.:

- an unacceptably high proportion of Europeans still struggling with reading and writing,
- a 30% of higher education graduates working in jobs which do not need a university qualification,
- too few people with the preparation, mind-sets and competences to set up their own businesses or look for new opportunities.

For this reason the Commission adopted a new and comprehensive Skills Agenda for Europe on 10 June 2016 in which ten actions have been proposed to help equip people with better skills.

The launch event gathered an audience from a wide spectrum of employment and education stakeholders and featured high-level speakers from European and international institutions. It was a highly interactive event offering opportunities to network and build partnerships for skills.

The ARACNE project finishes and presents its Methodological Guide

 cscs.it/

25/10/2016

The European project 'ARACNE, training, empowerment and entrepreneurship' has come to an end.

The project led by the cooperative FAM Y LIAS RECURSOS PARA LA DIVERSIDAD, in collaboration with CSCS (Italy) and BLICKPUNKT Identitat (Austria) and funded by the European Erasmus + Programme has worked intensively for two years with the main objective to develop a learning model capable to overcome the limitations of the current vocational training practices and labor insertion for groups with particular difficulties to access to the labor market.

The result of this hard work is presented in the final product: the Methodological Guide of the ARACNE Model. The Guide proposes a model and a methodology for the professionalization of the target group and consists of three parts:

- the design process of the ARACNE model,
- the presentation of the ARACNE model,
- a set of guidelines for applying that model to real situations, illustrated with the example of its first experimental application.

The realization of the guide has been possible thanks to the collaboration of many people who pooled their experience, knowledge, networks and resources.

Two aspiring chefs from Spain selected by the project Tourism for Vet find a job in Pistoia.

 cscs.it/

20/12/2016

Italy mobility, one of the learning mobility initiatives of CSCS, has generated job opportunities for its interns. The initiative, addressed to give a concrete response to the need for highly skilled workers, has been successful for a small group of aspiring chefs from Spain which did their internship in different restaurants of Pistoia.

Javier Legido Lozano, one of them, was hired after his training by the restaurant Magno Gaudio. About his amazing experience he tells: 'One year ago I received an email from La Fundación Cruzcampo in which I was informed that I won grant.

My internship started in the restaurant Magno Gaudio of Pistoia. I still remember my first day with Maurizio, the Chef and owner of the restaurant. Maurizio is an highly professional man who loves his job. I would say that his dishes show all his passion for cooking. Exchanging ideas, flavors, cooking methods and new recipes we soon became good friends...finally, a month before the end of my internship I received a proposal: Maurizio asked me to remain and work for him in the restaurant. My dream came true! I like Italy, its culture and its food and the grant represented a great opportunity to grow professionally in a place that I have always loved.'

Likewise Victor Perez Torrejon after a successful internship in the restaurant 'La Bottegaia' was hired by the bar 'Que tapas amigo' a new project led by a young team of cooks.

Victor says 'When I was starting to learn Italian and getting to know the local culture I did not want to go back to Spain yet. I wanted to take care of myself and leave the comfort zone. I learned a lot since we opened the last August and of course I have more responsibility than in my training period. I have to thank CSCS for giving us this opportunity. It is an experience that not everyone has the chance to do.'
